Intentionality Breeds Results

For over 40 years Shiloh Christian School has labored to provide Christian families with a partnership in the discipleship of youth within the school environment. The school is a training ground where our youth will spend a considerable amount of time during their developmental years. Their thoughts, actions and words derive their foundation from this time, and its importance is second only to the influence of the home and the local church. Shiloh takes this responsibility very seriously and understands that the normal challenges of life can only be addressed through the context of a personal relationship with Jesus Christ. We identify this perspective as a Christian worldview and must not be compromised when addressing the many facets of education.

Intentionality has its risks, the Bible is very clear about this. We know that living out the Christian life will offend some and comfort others. We never really know the impact we are going to have when we live our lives for Christ intentionally – only He has everything in view. We are merely called to submit ourselves unto His authority, yielding ourselves unto the influence of His will, and leaving the results up to Him. This is easier said than done and is exactly why the body of Christ has been admonished to function in a unified manner. We can only walk the talk when we walk together.

While we diligently labor to do our jobs as professional educators, we must always understand and embrace that our best efforts cannot compare to what God can accomplish in us and through us when we intentionally keep Him in front of us rather than behind us. It is with this understanding that we boldly move forward, stumbling at times, but always moving forward with confidence that we are in the powerful hand of our living God. May we all have a blessed year!

Shiloh Christian School Annual Report

Shiloh finished the fiscal year 2018-19 financially in a better position than when we started the year, with a positive cash flow. The revenue from operations exceeded four million dollars for the first time ever. We had a great year in fundraising exceeding our budget and raising $710,000 for operations. Fundraising was 18% of our operating budget. Generally, private schools’ budget 20-25% of their funds from contributions to balance the budget. Our concessions brought in $54,000 of net income for the school’s operations thanks to many volunteers.

The School continues to make great progress on paying down its debts. The School has three loans remaining from our building projects totaling $1,655,000. The school needs to raise $300,000 for the final Commons loan.

The Board of Directors and Administration are working together to provide a fiscally stable and sustainable operation to ensure Shiloh Christian School is a vital part of our community. Private education in the Bismarck-Mandan area for many years to come. This is made possible through families dedicated to Christian education and the gracious generosity of many people.
